El valor de $\hat{\Delta}$ meaning that the number is considered as a whole number and never a fraction. Then, we have to see if this value can be divided by 9 (for example, if the value is 12.22222 or 6.500000, it cannot be divided by 9). Finally, if the result of the division (the remainder) is not 0 (which means that the divisor was not zero) and not 9 (which means that the divisor was 0, in other words, the number was a whole number), then the number is divided by 9. This means that the denominator of the result will be the same as the denominator of the initial number. Therefore, the function has to be modified and it should be:

public int decimalnumber(double thenumber) { double answer; int numerador, contador, res; int numero = (int) thenumber; //We add 9 because the first part of the number will be the number of digits and will be divided by 9 as well int resultado = numero + 9; //We are going to divide all the digits of the number by 9 while (resultado!= 0) { answer = numero / 9; numerador = (int) answer; resultado = (int) answer; contador = numerador; numerador /= 9; contador /= 9; resultado /= 9; numero = (int) answer; } //Then, we add 1 because we want to multiply the result with 10 res = numerador * 10 + contador; return res; }
